IBS Vacuum Division at Hillhead

Visit Stand RB9

When the Vacuum Division of Industrial Blower Services was launched eight years ago, the intention was to provide customers across a wide range of different industries with a service that included the hire and service of medium sized, portable vacuum systems. Since those early days, the Vacuum Division has grown massively with over forty machines on long-term hire, a busy service department and separate sales facility.

Also, the type of vacuum machinery has evolved and now includes small vacuum systems which can handle the removal of swarf from machine tools or small liquid spillages right up to large truck mounted systems that can handle brick-sized solids and hazardous substances, such as liquids, sludge, fats, oils, fuels and chemicals.

The quarrying industry is an important one for the Vacuum Division. At this year's Hillhead show, the company will have vacuum systems for workshop use, excavator and truck cab cleaning and medium-sized solids spillages.
